

HACKUCI LIABILITY WAIVER

Henceforth, all first person pronouns will refer to either to the HackUCI participant or, if the participant is a minor (under 18 years of age), the legal parent or guardian of minor speaking on behalf of said minor.

I wish to participate in the HackUCI hackathon. I hereby agree to comply with all of the HackUCI rules and procedures (located at <http://www.hackuci.com/rules.pdf>) and to act in accordance with instructions of HackUCI officials. I understand that, should I violate any of the aforementioned guidelines, I will be subject to the consequences deemed appropriate by HackUCI officials. Such consequences may involve the revocation of prizes and/or ejection from the event.

I agree to not engage in any behavior that can damage either PeopleSpace or the quality of the event. This includes the use of equipment such as soldering irons and Wifi Hotspots as they can harm the quality of the event.

I verify that I have represented myself accurately on my application and in any subsequent information provided for HackUCI officials. I understand that I may create the concept for the Entry or the project of my team ("the Entry") before I arrive at the contest, but that all development on the Entry will take place at PeopleSpace between 10:00PM PDT on Friday May 23, 2014 and 10:00AM PDT on Sunday May 25, 2014, unless stated otherwise by a HackUCI official.

I understand that HackUCI will not claim ownership on the Entry, but I hereby represent and warrant that all of the work on the Entry is original to me or to my team and was produced during the event. That said, I also understand that my team can use publicly available code to produce the Entry, as long as the license on that code allows such use and would allow the Entry to be produced and marketed in commerce without further payment or restriction. I agree to follow HackUCI officials or judges to view code from the Entry for the purpose of judging and that the ruling of the judges is final. HackUCI has no ownership interest in the Entry and therefore has no liability for any legal or contractual issues that arise from the Entry. I hereby agree to indemnify, hold harmless and defend HackUCI against any liability related to the Entry.

HackUCI is not liable for any emotional or physical damage to me which may include loss of life, as well as physical damage to my computer, other equipment, and personal items, including the case of theft of my belongings. However, I am liable for any damage I may cause to HackUCI or PeopleSpace. Food is provided by outside vendors and HackUCI is not responsible for meeting any food-related standards. HackUCI is not liable for any consequential, punitive, secondary, speculative, special or incidental damages, even if they had been advised of the likelihood of such damages occurring.

I hereby grant HackUCI permission to use my photo or video image and the demo of the Entry freely for any purpose, and I specifically grant permission to use these images or demo in marketing for HackUCI.

I acknowledge that I am responsible for respecting humankind and the hacking community at large by conducting myself in a manner deemed appropriate by HackUCI officials and not being abusive to other individuals during the event.
